A simple solution to a complex problem

Sometimes, the most difficult problems often have a simple solution.

In the case of White's Woods, may I suggest that the White Township supervisors transfer the deed to the woods to the Indiana County commissioners so that the preserve can become a part of the Indiana County Parks and Trails.

This move would put the woods under the supervision of a park staff experienced in preserving natural environments, and their success, in turn, is always supervised by the Parks and Recreation Board.

The woods are a treasure for all residents of Indiana County; let the care of them belong to all.
